Congressman Don Edwards
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C.

Dear Don,

Thanks for your letter.

Perhaps the enclosed carbons may be of interest.

Mark is Mark Allen, who has just begun his third year at the University of Virginia Law School.

He handled his case pro se.

In an earlier letter I asked him to send you the evidence of what I believe is false swearing in asserting a national security claim.

If you have any interest in the CIA's King records to which I refer in the letter to Robinson you are welcome to copies.

In them the CIA attests that under the amended Act it is required to withhold, to protect "national security," the kind of information it disclosed voluntarily before you people amended the Act in 1974. I have many cases of this.

If any of these people is ever nailed for false swearing it would do a lot of good and the cases of it are numerous.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
